the exploration licence expires in relation to the blocks covered by the mining licence.

Division 3 – Locations

131. Simplified outline - The following is a simplified outline of this Division -

If a mineral deposit is identified in an exploration licence area, the licensee may declare a location over the block or blocks in which the mineral deposit is located.

Generally, blocks must be nominated for declaration by the licensee.

The Authority may require the licensee to nominate the blocks.

The declaration may be revoked or varied in certain circumstances.

132. Nomination of blocks as a location - (1) If -

- (a) a mineral deposit is identified in an exploration licence area; and,
 - (b) the licensee or another person has, whether in or outside the licence area recovered minerals from the deposit;
- the licensee may nominate, for declaration as a location -
- (c) if the mineral deposit is located in only one block in the licence area - that block; or,
 - (d) if the mineral deposit extends to 2 or more blocks in the licence area - those blocks.

(2) A nomination under this section must be -

- (a) in writing; and
- (b) given to the Authority.

133. Requirement to nominate blocks as a location - (1) If -

- (a) the Authority is of the opinion that an exploration licensee is entitled to nominate a block or blocks under subsection 132(1); and,
- (b) the licensee has not done so;

the Authority may, by written notice given to the licensee, require the licensee to nominate the block or blocks within -

- (c) 90 days after the day on which the notice was given; or,
- (d) such longer period, not more than 180 days after the day on which the notice was given, as the Authority allows.

(2) The Authority may allow a longer period under paragraph (1)(d) only on written application made by the licensee within the period of 90 days mentioned in paragraph (1)(c).

(3) If the licensee does not comply with the requirement, the Authority may, by written notice given to the licensee, nominate the block or blocks for declaration as a location.

134. Declaration of location - (1) If -

- (a) an exploration licensee has made a nomination under section 132; and,
- (b) the Authority is of the opinion that the licensee is entitled under that section to nominate the block or blocks specified in the nomination;

the Authority must, by writing, declare the nominated block or blocks to be a location.

(2) A copy of a declaration under subsection (1) must be published in the Gazette.

(3) The Authority may form an opinion for the purposes of this section if the Authority considers that there are reasonable grounds for doing so having regard to any information the Authority has, whether given by the licensee or otherwise.

(4) If the Authority has made a nomination under section 133, the Authority must, by notice published -

- (a) in the Gazette; and,
- (b) in a national newspaper of the Cook Islands;

declare the nominated block or blocks to be a location.

135. Revocation of declaration - (1) If -

- (a) an exploration licence is in force over a block that constitutes, or the blocks that constitute, a location; and
- (b) the licensee requests the Authority to revoke the declaration of the location;

the Authority may, by writing, revoke the declaration of the location.

(2) A copy of a revocation under subsection (1) is to be published in the Gazette.

- (3) If -
- (a) a block or blocks constituting or forming part of a location was or were the subject of an exploration licence or a retention lease; and,
 - (b) that block is, or those blocks are, no longer the subject of the permit or lease;
- the Authority must, by notice published in the Gazette -
- (c) in a case where that block constitutes, or those blocks constitute, that location - revoke the declaration of that location; or
 - (d) in a case where that block forms, or those blocks form, part of that location - revoke the declaration of that location to the extent to which the declaration relates to that block or those blocks.
- (4) Subsection (3) does not apply in relation to a block if -
- (a) a person has applied for the grant of a mining licence over the block, and the Authority has not made a decision in relation to the application; or
 - (b) a mining licence is in force in relation to the block
- (5) Subsection (3) does not apply in relation to a block if -
- (a) a person has applied for the grant of a retention lease over the block and the Authority has not made a decision in relation to the application; or,
 - (b) a retention lease is in force in relation to the block.
- (6) If a retention lease is granted in relation to a block or blocks forming part of a location, the Authority must, by notice published in the Gazette, revoke the declaration of the location to the extent to which the declaration relates to the block that is, or the blocks that are, not within the retention lease area.
- (7) If -
- (a) the Authority refuses to grant a retention lease in relation to a block or blocks constituting or forming part of a location; and
 - (b) the reason, or one of the reasons, for the refusal is that the Authority is not satisfied as to the matter referred to in subsection 143(2) (which deals with commercial viability);
- the Authority must, by notice published in the Gazette, revoke the declaration of that location.

Note: If an exploration licence is in force over a block that constitutes a location, and the licensee's application for a retention lease over the block is rejected as mentioned in subsection (7), and the licensee wants to apply for a mining licence, then the licensee must re-nominate the block for declaration as a location before the licensee applies for the mining licence.

- (8) If -
- (a) an application for the grant of a mining licence has been

- made under this Act; and,
- (b) the application specifies 2 or more blocks; and
- (c) a mining licence is granted in respect of -
 - (i) only one of the blocks; or
 - (ii) some, but not all, of the blocks; and
- (d) the remaining block or blocks form part of a location;

the Authority must, by notice published in the Gazette, revoke the declaration of the location to the extent to which the declaration relates to the remaining block or blocks.

136. Variation of declaration of location - (1) If an exploration licence is in force over a block that constitutes, or blocks that constitute, a location, the Authority may, by writing, vary the declaration of the location -

- (a) by adding to the location a block -
 - (i) that is in the licence area; and,
 - (ii) to which, in the opinion of the Authority, a mineral deposit within the location extends; or
 - (b) by deleting from the location a block to which, in the opinion of the Authority no mineral deposit within the location extends.
- (2) A copy of a variation under subsection (1) is to be published in the Gazette.
- (3) The Authority may vary a declaration only if -
- (a) the licensee requests the variation; or
 - (b) all of the following conditions are satisfied -
 - (i) the Authority gives the licensee written notice of the proposed variation, identifying the block to be added to, or deleted from, the location;
 - (ii) the notice invites the licensee to give the Authority a submission about the proposed variation;
 - (iii) the notice specifies a time limit for making the submission;
 - (iv) the Authority has considered any submission made in accordance with the notice.
- (4) The time limit must be at least 30 days after the notice is given.
- (5) The Authority may form an opinion for the purposes of this section if the Authority considers that there are reasonable grounds for doing so having regard to any information the Authority has, whether given by the licensee or otherwise.

Division 4 – Retention Leases
Subdivision A – Preliminary

137. Simplified outline - The following is a simplified outline of this Division -

This Part provides for the grant of retention lease over a block in the Seabed of the Cook Islands.

A retention lease is designed to allow an exploration licence holder to retain rights over an area if -

The holder has identified and evaluated a mineral deposit in a location; and

Recovery of the deposit is not commercially viable in the short term for some reason (for example: political situation, prevailing situation in the commodity market for particular minerals, the need to arrange finance or build up capital reserves, the need to develop new technologies or the impending development of new technologies); and

There is a reasonable prospect of the recovery of the deposit in the longer term

A retention lease authorises the lessee to retain title to a lease area on an exclusive basis and to explore for minerals in that area on an appraisal basis.

The criteria for granting retention lease over a block

The block contains minerals of potential commercial significance; and, mining and recovery of minerals is not currently commercially viable, but is likely to become commercially viable within 8 years.

138. Rights conferred by retention lease - (1) A retention lease authorises the lessee, in accordance with the conditions (if any) to which the lease is subject -

- (a) to explore for minerals in the lease area;
- (b) to recover minerals on an appraisal basis in the lease area; and,
- (c) to carry on such operations, and execute such works, in the lease area as are necessary for those purposes.

(2) A retention lease must not authorise the recovery of minerals as part of a commercial mining operation.

(3) If a lease is expressed to restrict the kind of minerals covered by the lease, the lessee is not permitted to explore for, or to recover, minerals not covered by the lease.

(4) A restriction on the kind of minerals covered by the lease may be inclusive (for example, only minerals A, B and C) or exclusive (for example, all minerals except A, B and C).

(5) For the purposes of subsection (3), the lessee does not recover an excluded mineral if, in the course of exploring for, or recovering, another mineral the lessee recovers some excluded mineral.

(6) The rights conferred on the lessee by subsection (1) are subject to this Act and the regulations.

139. Duration of retention lease - (1) The duration of an exploration licence is determined using the following table -

Duration of retention lease
Item	This kind of lease...	remains in force...
1	An original retention lease	for the period of 3 years beginning on: (a) the day on which the lease is granted; or (b) if a later day is specified in the lease as the day on which the lease is to come into force-- that later day.
2	A retention lease granted by way of renewal	for the period of 2 years beginning on: (a) the day on which the lease is granted; or (b) if a later day is specified in the lease as the day on which the lease is to come into force-- that later day.

(2) Subsection (1) has effect subject to this Chapter.

Note 1: For a special rule about the extension of the duration of a retention lease if the lessee applies for a mining licence, see section 151.

Note 2: For a special rule about the extension of the duration of a retention lease pending decisions on renewal applications, see section 148.

Note 3: For the revocation of a retention lease, see section 163.

Note 4: For a special rule about when a retention lease ceases to be in force following the grant of a mining licence, see section 164.

140. Specific Condition of retention leases – re-evaluation of commercial viability - (1) A retention lease is subject to a condition that if the Authority gives the lessee a written notice requesting the lessee to -

(a) re-evaluate the commercial viability of mining in the lease area; and,

- (b) inform the Authority in writing of the results of the re-evaluation the lessee must comply with the request within -

- (c) the period of 90 days after the notice is given; or
- (d) such longer period as the Authority allows.

(2) The Authority may allow a longer period under paragraph (1)(d) only on written application made by the lessee within the period of 90 days mentioned in paragraph (1)(c).

(3) If a retention lessee has complied with a subsection (1) request during the term of the lease, the Authority must not give the lessee a further subsection (1) request during that term.

(4) Despite subsection (2), the condition mentioned in subsection (3) does not need to be specified in the lease.

Subdivision B – Applications for Retention Leases

141. Application for retention lease by the holder of an exploration licence - (1) If an exploration licence is in force over a block that constitutes, or the blocks that constitute, a location, the licensee may, within the application period, apply to the Authority for the grant by the Authority of a retention lease over that block or over one or more of those blocks.

Note: For application period, see subsection (3).

- (2) An application under this section must be accompanied by details of -
 - (a) the applicant's proposals for work and expenditure in relation to the area comprised in the block or blocks specified in the application; and
 - (b) the current commercial viability of the recovery of minerals from that area; and,
 - (c) the possible future commercial viability of the recovery of minerals from that area.

Note 1: Section 55 contains additional provisions about application procedures.

Note 2: Section 56 requires the application to be accompanied by an application fee.

Note 3: Section 59 enables the Authority to require the applicant to give further information.

- (3) The application period for an application under this section is -
 - (a) the period of 1 year after the day (the declaration day) on which the block that constitutes the location concern was, or the blocks that constitute the location concerned were, declared to be a location; or
 - (b) such longer period, not more than 3 years after the declaration day, as the Authority allows.

(4) The Authority may allow a longer period under paragraph (3)(b) only on written application made by the licensee within the period of 1 years mentioned in paragraph (3)(a).

142. Application must be advertised - (1) The applicant must advertise the application made under section 141 in a national newspaper of the Cook Islands.

(2) The advertisement published under subsection (1) must contain -

- (a) the applicant's name and address; and
- (b) a map and description of the blocks applied for that are sufficient for the blocks to be identified; and
- (c) the address of the Authority; and
- (d) a statement -
 - (i) that the applicant has applied for an exploration licence over the blocks described in the notice; and,
 - (ii) that invites comment from the public on the application; and
 - (iii) that requests that comments be sent to the applicant and the Authority within 30 days after the day on which the advertisement is published.

(3) The advertisement must be published as soon as possible after the applicant applies for an exploration licence.

(4) Subject to subsection (5), the advertisement must be published within 14 days after the day on which the applicant lodges the application.

(5) If -

- (a) the applicant applies to the Authority within the 14 day period referred to in subsection (4) for an extension of the period; and,
- (b) the Authority extends the period;

the advertisement must be published within the period as extended by the Authority.

143. Grant of retention lease - offer document - (1) This section applies if an application for the grant of a retention lease has been made under section 141.

(2) The Authority may -

- (a) give the applicant a written notice (called an offer document) telling the applicant that the Authority is prepared to grant the applicant a retention lease over the block or blocks specified in the offer document; or,
- (b) by written notice given to the applicant, refuse to grant a retention lease to the applicant.

Note 1: Section 60 sets out additional requirements for offer documents (for example, a requirement that an offer document must contain a summary of conditions).

Note 2: If the applicant breaches a requirement under section 59 to provide further information, the Authority may refuse to give the applicant an offer document - see subsection 59(3).

144. Grounds for granting retention lease - (1) The Authority may issue an offer document to an applicant under section 143 only if it is satisfied that -

- (a) the applicant has identified and evaluated a significant mineral deposit; and
- (b) there are reasonable grounds for the applicant not applying immediately for a mining licence.

(2) Without limiting subsection (1), reasonable grounds for not applying immediately for a mining licence include the following -

- (a) the need to obtain government approvals (for example, relating to environmental protection) before mining activities can commence;
- (b) the need to carry out further exploration or evaluation in order to establish the commercial viability of a mineral deposit found in the licence area;
- (c) the need to develop technologies before mining activities can commence;
- (d) the need to arrange finance or to secure additional capital reserves, before mining activities can commence;
- (e) the existence of economic considerations (for example, the prevailing condition of the commodity market for the minerals concerned) that effectively preclude mining activities in the immediate future;
- (f) the existence of political considerations that effectively preclude mining activities in the immediate future.

145. Refusal to grant retention lease – If -

- (a) an application for a retention lease has been made under section 141; and,
- (b) the Authority is not satisfied as to the matters referred to in subsection 141(2) in relation to the application;

the Authority must, by written notice given to the applicant, refuse to grant a retention lease to the applicant.

Note: Consultation procedures apply – see section 61.

146. Grant of retention lease – If -

- (a) an applicant has been given an offer document under section 143; and
- (b) the applicant has made a request under section 60 in relation to the offer document within the period applicable under that section;

the Authority must grant the applicant a retention lease.

Note: If the applicant does not make a request under section 60 within the period applicable under that section, the application lapses at the end of that period - see subsection 60(7).

Subdivision C – Renewal of Retention Leases

147. Application for renewal of retention lease - (1) The holder of a retention lease may apply to the Authority for the renewal of the lease.

- (2) An application to renew a retention lease must be made -
- (a) not more than 12 months before the expiry date of the lease; and,
 - (b) at least 180 days before the expiry date of the lease

(3) Despite subsection (2), the Authority may accept an application to renew a retention lease if the application is made -

- (a) later than 180 days before the expiry date of the lease; and,
- (b) before the expiry date of the lease.

(4) An application to renew a retention lease must be made in the prescribed form and be accompanied by details of -

- (a) the lessee's proposals for work and expenditure in relation to the lease area; and,
- (b) the current commercial viability of recovery of minerals from the lease area.
- (c) the possible future commercial viability of recovery of minerals from the lease area.

148. Extension of duration of retention lease pending decision on application - (1)
If -

- (a) a retention lessee makes an application to renew the lease under section 147; and,
- (b) the lease would, apart from this subsection, expire -
 - (i) before the Authority grants, or refuses to grant, the renewal of the lease; or,
 - (ii) before the application lapses;

the lease continues in force,

- (c) until the Authority grants, or refuses to grant, the renewal of the lease; or,
- (d) until the application so lapses;

whichever happens first.

- (2) Subsection (1) has effect subject to this Chapter.

149. Matters to be taken into account in deciding whether to renew retention lease
 - In determining whether to renew the lease, the Authority must have regard to -
- (a) whether mining activities are commercially viable in the retention lease area; and
 - (b) whether the applicant has complied with -
 - (i) this Act; and
 - (ii) the regulations; and
 - (iii) any lease conditions.

150. Renewal of retention lease – offer document - (1) This section applies if an application to renew a retention lease has been made under section 147.

- (2) If -
 - (a) each of the following has been complied with -
 - (i) the conditions to which the retention lease is, or has from time to time been, subject;
 - (ii) directions given to the holder by the Authority;
 - (iii) the regulations; and,
 - (b) the Authority is satisfied that recovery of minerals from the lease area -
 - (i) is not, at the time of the application, commercially viable; and
 - (ii) is likely to become commercially viable within the period of 5 years after that time;

the Authority may give the applicant a written notice (called an offer document) telling the applicant that the Authority is prepared to renew the lease.

Note: Section 60 sets out additional requirements for offer documents (for example, a requirement that an offer document must contain a summary of conditions).

- (3) If -
 - (a) any of -
 - (i) the conditions to which the retention lease is, or has from time to time been, subject; or
 - (ii) the provisions of this Act; or,
 - (iii) the provisions of the regulations have not been complied with; and
 - (b) the Authority is satisfied that there are sufficient grounds to warrant the granting of the renewal of the retention lease; and
 - (c) the Authority is satisfied that mining of minerals from the lease area -
 - (i) is not, at the time of the application, commercially viable; and,
 - (ii) is likely to become commercially viable within the period of 5 years after that time;

the Authority may give the applicant a written notice (called an offer document) telling the applicant that the Authority is prepared to renew the lease.

Note: Section 60 sets out additional requirements for offer documents (for example, a requirement that an offer document must contain a summary of conditions).

151. Extension of retention lease if lessee applies for mining licence - (1) If -
- (a) a retention lease is in force over a block or blocks; and,
 - (b) before the time when the lease would, apart from this subsection, expire, the lessee applies to the Authority for the grant by the Authority of a mining licence over the block or one or more of the blocks;

the table has effect -

Duration of retention lease

Item	In this case...	The lease continues in force over a block or blocks covered by the lease until...
1	The Authority gives the lessee an offer document relating to a mining licence	The licence is granted, the lessee withdraws the application, or the application lapses.
2	The Authority decides not to grant the mining licence to the lessee.	Notice of the decision is given to the lessee.

152. Refusal to renew retention lease - (1) This section applies if an application to renew a retention lease has been made under section 147.

- (2) If -
- (a) any of -
 - (i) the conditions to which the retention lease is, or has from time to time been, subject; or
 - (ii) the provisions of this Act; or,
 - (iii) the provisions of the regulations have not been complied with; and,
 - (b) the Authority is not satisfied that there are sufficient grounds to warrant the granting of the renewal of the retention lease;

the Authority must, by written notice given to the applicant, refuse to renew the lease.

Note: Consultation procedures apply-see section 61.

(3) If the Authority is satisfied that recovery of minerals from the lease area is, at the time of the application, commercially viable, the Authority must, by written notice given to the applicant, refuse to renew the lease.

Note: Consultation procedures apply – see section 61.

(4) If the Authority is satisfied that recovery of minerals from the lease area is unlikely to become commercially viable within the period of 3 years after the time of the application, the Authority must, by written notice given to the applicant, refuse to renew the lease.

Note: Consultation procedures apply – see section 61.

(5) A notice of refusal under subsection (3) must contain a statement to the effect that the lessee may, within 12 months after the notice was given, apply for a mining licence over one or more of the blocks comprised in the lease.

(6) If -

- (a) the Authority makes a decision under subsection (3) refusing to renew the lease; and
- (b) a notice of refusal is given to the applicant; and
- (c) within 12 months after the notice was given, the lessee applies for a mining licence over one or more of the blocks comprised in the lease; and,
- (d) the lease would, apart from this subsection, expire -
 - (i) before the Authority grants, or refuses to grant, the mining licence; or
 - (ii) before the application lapses;

the lease continues in force until -

- (e) the Authority grants, or refuses to grant, the mining licence; or
- (f) the application lapses;

whichever happens first.

(7) If -

- (a) the Authority makes a decision under subsection (3) refusing to renew the lease;
- (b) a notice of refusal is given to the applicant;
- (c) subsection (6) does not apply; and,
- (d) the lease would, apart from this subsection, expire within 12 months after the notice was given;

the lease continues in force until the end of the 12-month period beginning on the day on which the notice was given

153. Renewal of retention lease – If -

- (a) an applicant has been given an offer document under section 150; and,

(b) the applicant has made a request under section 60 in relation to the offer document within the period applicable under this section; the Authority must renew the retention lease.

Note: If the applicant does not make a request under section 60 within the period applicable under that section, the application lapses at the end of that period - see subsection 60 (7).

Subdivision D – Revocation of Retention Lease

154. Notice of intention to revoke retention lease - (1) This section applies if –

- (b) either -
 - (i) the lessee does not make a submission in accordance with the notice; or,
 - (ii) the Authority, after consideration of any submissions made in accordance with the notice, determines that the lease should be revoked;

the Authority must, by written notice given to the lessee, revoke the lease.

(2) If -

- (a) a retention lease is revoked under subsection (1); and
- (b) the lessee applies for a mining licence in relation to one or more of the blocks comprised in the lease within the period of 12 months beginning on the day on which the notice of revocation was given the revocation of the lease takes effect:
- (c) when the Authority grants, or refuses to grant, the mining licence; or
- (d) when the application lapses;

whichever happens first.

(3) If -

- (a) a retention lease is revoked under subsection (1); and,
- (b) the lessee does not apply for a mining licence in relation to one or more of the blocks comprised in the lease within the period of 12 months beginning on the day on which the notice of revocation was given; the revocation of the lease takes effect at the end of that 12-month period.

(4) If a retention lease is revoked under subsection (1), the lease continues in force until the revocation takes effect in accordance with subsection (2) or (3).

156. Significant changes in circumstances to be reported to Authority - (1) A retention lease holder must notify the Authority of any change of circumstances that significantly affects the long term viability of mining activities in the retention lease area.

Note: The Authority may cancel the retention lease if it believes that circumstances have changed so that mining activities can now commence (see section 166).

(2) Subsection (1) applies to a change of circumstances whether favourable or unfavourable to the long-term viability of mining activities in the retention lease area.

157. Requirement to apply for mining licence - (1) This section applies where the Authority is satisfied that it has become technically possible and commercially viable for a mineral deposit that is the subject of a retention lease to be mined or recovered during the term of the lease.

(2) The Authority may require the lessee to apply for a mining licence in respect of the minerals specified in the notice before the end of the period specified in the notice.

(3) If the lessee fails to comply with a notice served in accordance with subsection (2), the Authority may thereafter cancel the lease at any time.

(4) No compensation shall be payable under this Act if a retention lease is cancelled in accordance with sub-section (3).

This Part provides for the grant of mining licences over a block in the Seabed of the Cook Islands.

A mining licence authorises the licensee to recover minerals in the licence area on an exclusive basis.

A mining licence may be granted to -

- (a) the holder of an exploration licence over the block;
- (b) the holder of a retention lease over the block;
- (c) an applicant that has submitted a bid in respect of acreage released by the Authority.

169. Rights conferred by mining licence - (1) A mining licence authorises the licensee, in accordance with the conditions to which the licence is subject -

- (a) to recover minerals in the licence area;
- (b) to carry out exploration operations for minerals in the licence area; and,
- (c) to carry on such operations, and execute such works, in the licence area as are necessary for those purposes.

(2) The rights conferred on the licensee by subsection (1) are subject to this Act and the regulations.

170. Duration of mining licence - (1) The duration of a mining licence is determined using the following table -

Duration of mining licence
Item	This kind of licence...	remains in force...

1	An original mining licence	for the period of 15 years , or for the forecasted life of the mineral operations, whichever is the shorter, beginning on: (a) the day on which the licence is granted; or (b) if a later day is specified in the licence as the day on which the licence is to come into force--that later day.
2	A mining licence granted by way of renewal	for the period of 10 years, or the remaining forecasted life of mineral operations, whichever is the shorter, beginning on: (a) the day on which the licence is granted; or (b) if a later day is specified in the licence as the day on which the licence is to come into force--that later day.

(2) Subsection (1) has effect subject to this Chapter.

Note 1: For a special rule about the extension of the duration of a mining licence pending decisions on renewal applications see section 194

171. Rights to minerals recovered - (1) Any minerals recovered by the holder of a mining licence from a block covered by the licence become the property of the holder when they are recovered.

(2) If the mining licence authorises the exploration for and recovery of minerals only of a particular kind, subsection (1) only applies to the recovery of minerals of that kind.

(3) The minerals recovered are not subject to the rights of any other person.

(4) Nothing in this section affects the operation of section 302.

(5) Subsection (4) does not apply to rights that licence holder transfers to the other person.

Subdivision B – Application by holder of Exploration licence

172. Application for mining licence by exploration licensee or retention lessee – (1) An exploration licensee or a retention lessee may apply to the Authority for the grant of a mining licence over a block or over one or more of those blocks in respect of which the licence or lease is in force and where the recovery of minerals is commercially viable.

320. Establishing guilt in respect of offences - (1) In order for a person to be found guilty of committing an offence under this Act the following must be proved -

- (a) the existence of such physical elements as are, under this Act, relevant to establishing guilt; and,
- (b) in respect of each such physical element for which a fault element is required, one of the fault elements for the physical element.

321. Offences that do not specify fault elements - (1) Where under this Act an offence does not specify a fault element for a physical element that consists only of conduct, intention is the fault element for that physical element.

(2) Where under this Act an offence does not specify a fault element for a physical element that consists of a circumstance or a result, recklessness is the fault element for that physical element.

Division 2 -- Cases where fault elements are not required

322. Strict liability - (1) Where under this Act an offence provides that the offence is an offence of strict liability -

- (a) there are no fault elements for any of the physical elements of the offence; and,
- (b) the defence of mistake of fact is available.

(2) Where an offence provides that strict liability applies to a particular physical element of the offence -

- (a) there are no fault elements for that physical element; and
- (b) the defence of mistake of fact is available in relation to that physical element.

(3) The existence of strict liability does not make any other defence unavailable.

323. Intervening conduct or event - A person is not criminally responsible for an offence under this Act that has a physical element to which strict liability applies if -

- (a) the physical element is brought about by someone else over whom the person has no control or by a non-human act or event over which the person has no control; and,
- (b) the person could not reasonably have been expected to guard against the bringing about of the physical element.

324. Continuing and multiple offences - (1) Where, under this Act an act or thing is required to be done within a particular period or before a particular time, then, unless the contrary intention appears, the obligation to do that act or thing continues, notwithstanding that the period has expired or the time has passed, until the act or thing is done.

(2) Where a refusal or failure to comply with a requirement referred to in subsection (1) is an offence under this Act, a person is guilty of an offence in respect of each day during which the person refuses or fails to comply with that requirement, including the day of a conviction for any such offence or any later day.

(3) Charges against the same person for any number of offences against the same provision of this Act may be joined in the same summons if those charges are founded on the same facts, or form, or are part of, a series of offences of the same or a similar character.

(4) If a person is convicted of 2 or more offences referred to in subsection (3), the court may impose one penalty in respect of both or all of those offences, but that penalty shall not exceed the sum of the maximum penalties that could be imposed if a separate penalty were imposed in respect of each offence.

Division 3 – Commencement of Prosecutions

325. Time for commencement of prosecutions - (1) Subject to subsection (2), a prosecution of an individual for an offence against a provision of this Act may be commenced as follows -

- (a) if the maximum penalty which may be imposed for the offence in respect of an individual is, or includes, a term of imprisonment of more than 6 months in the case of a first conviction at any time;
- (b) in any other case at any time within one year after the commission of the offence.

(2) A prosecution of a body corporate for an offence against a provision of this Act may be commenced as follows -

(4) Where, under this Act any longer time than the time provided by this section is provided for the commencement of a prosecution in respect of an offence against that law, a prosecution in respect of the offence may be commenced at any time within that longer time.

Part 10.3 - Corporate criminal responsibility

326. Application to Bodies Corporate - (1) An offence created by this Act applies to bodies corporate in the same way as it applies to individuals with such modifications as are set out in this Part and with such other modifications as are made necessary by the fact that criminal liability is being imposed on bodies corporate rather than individuals.

(2) A body corporate may be found guilty of any offence, including one punishable by imprisonment.

(3) If a physical element of an offence is committed by an employee, agent or officer of a body corporate acting within the actual or apparent scope of his or her employment, or within his or her actual or apparent authority, the physical element must also be attributed to the body corporate.

(4) If intention, knowledge or recklessness is a fault element in relation to a physical element of an offence, that fault element must be attributed to a body corporate that expressly, tacitly or impliedly authorised or permitted the commission of the offence.

(5) The means by which such an authorisation or permission may be established include -

- (a) proving that the body corporate's board of directors intentionally, knowingly or recklessly carried out the relevant conduct, or expressly, tacitly or impliedly authorised or permitted the commission of the offence; or
- (b) proving that a high managerial agent of the body corporate intentionally, knowingly or recklessly engaged in the relevant conduct, or expressly, tacitly or impliedly authorised or permitted the commission of the offence; or
- (c) proving that a corporate culture existed within the body corporate that directed, encouraged, tolerated or led to non-compliance with the relevant provision; or
- (d) proving that the body corporate failed to create and maintain a corporate culture that required compliance with the relevant provision.

(6) Paragraph (2)(b) does not apply if the body corporate proves that it exercised due diligence to prevent the conduct, or the authorisation or permission.

(7) Factors relevant to the application of paragraph (2)(c) or (d) include -

- (a) whether authority to commit an offence of the same or a similar character had been given by a high managerial agent of the body corporate; and
- (b) whether the employee, agent or officer of the body corporate who committed the offence believed on reasonable grounds, or entertained a reasonable expectation, that a high managerial agent of the body corporate would have authorised or permitted the commission of the offence.

(8) If recklessness is not a fault element in relation to a physical element of an offence, subsection (2) does not enable the fault element to be proved by proving that the board of directors, or a high managerial agent, of the body corporate recklessly engaged in the conduct or recklessly authorised or permitted the commission of the offence.

(9) In this section –

"board of directors" means the body (by whatever name called) exercising the executive authority of the body corporate.

"corporate culture" means an attitude, policy, rule, course of conduct or practice existing within the body corporate generally or in the part of the body corporate in which the relevant activities takes place.

"high managerial agent" means an employee, agent or officer of the body corporate with duties of such responsibility that his or her conduct may fairly be assumed to represent the body corporate's policy.

327. Mistake of fact (strict liability) - (1) A body corporate can only rely on mistake of fact (strict liability) in respect of conduct that would, apart from this section, constitute an offence on its part if -

- (a) the employee, agent or officer of the body corporate who carried out the conduct was under a mistaken but reasonable belief about facts that, had they existed, would have meant that the conduct would not have constituted an offence; and
- (b) the body corporate proves that it exercised due diligence to prevent the conduct.

(2) A failure to exercise due diligence may be evidenced by the fact that the prohibited conduct was substantially attributable to -

- (a) inadequate corporate management, control or supervision of the conduct of one or more of its employees, agents or officers; or,
- (b) failure to provide adequate systems for conveying relevant information to relevant persons in the body corporate.

328. Intervening conduct or event - A body corporate cannot rely on an intervening conduct or event in respect of a physical element of an offence brought about by another person if the other person is an employee, agent or officer of the body corporate.
